

EXCEEDING expectations in medical research & development

medical surgical supplies orthopedics spine endoscopy surgical beds obstetrics vascular supplies
capital and wound care

Essential Healthcare
Sourcing

Essential Healthcare Sourcing is a premier contract medical manufacturer specializing in medical surgical supplies, orthopedics, spine, endoscopy, surgical beds, obstetrics, vascular supplies, non-patient care services, capital and wound care, and more. Our trained, experienced managers and technicians are dedicated to carrying your product from design to delivery with proven, cost-effective production processes. Whether your products are intended for distribution to emergency or accident teams, local practitioners, hospitals, or operating rooms, our team will facilitate your manufacturing process to exceed your expectations.

OUR PROCESS. YOUR SUCCESS.

We have built Essential Health Care Sourcing's success on years of manufacturing experience for clinical and medical products. Each product is inspected through every phase of the manufacturing process to measure performance against pre-established, proven audit plans to continuously improve our processes. Accelerated life testing is conducted to monitor every product's efficacy regularly.

- Our trained auditors guarantee your product's quality by conducting audits from the design process to the manufacturing progression
- Supplier audits are regularly conducted to inspect for quality and security of provided products
- Life-testing and batch sample verification are combined to ensure excellent quality before finished product release
- EHS provides continuous training to employees as an investment in the future
- We follow international standards ISO 9001:2000, ISO 13485:2003, and FDA GMP

Essential Healthcare Sourcing

Our ultimate goal is to bring clarity and transparency to the healthcare market with our team of highly specialized technicians.

We pride ourselves in meeting the stringent standards demanded by our customers and their clients. Essential Healthcare Sourcing works with healthcare providers and caregivers around the world to fulfill all production requirements for niches of the medical industry, including cardiac, orthopedic, anesthetic, vascular, and specialist emergency teams along with a host of safety and health teams and clinicians. Our technicians offer meticulous care throughout the process, from sample prototype planning and pre-production to supply chain logistics with guaranteed sterile conditions.

Customer Focus

The management team at Essential Healthcare Sourcing brings years of quality consulting and manufacturing experience from the medical industry. Each team member is committed with providing excellent customer service in all facets of the manufacturing process, building strong, reliable, and transparent relationships with EHS clients. Experience customer service that won't just meet your expectations, we will exceed them.

Essential Health Care Sourcing team members have worked with the manufacturing and implementation of new product introductions for years. We understand the whole medical product, including how and when it will be used, what design will be the most effective for the end users, and the technology needed to achieve those goals. Our engineers use CAD, 3D modelling, and advanced engineering to build prototypes that are ready for evaluation in the field. The EHC teams strive to provide products that are cost-effective, attractive, and functional, and deliver them to the client by deadline.

Guaranteed Excellence

EHS is dedicated to maintaining the highest quality standards while adhering to cost-effective solutions. In order to uphold these criteria, regular field testing is conducted on pre-production batches of each product before the final production is begun. Quality standards, material selection, supplier management, and support services are provided by our production engineering teams to find the most effective combination of function, aesthetics, and cost.

Excellence In Medical Manufacturing

Streamlined Engineering Focused On Cost-Effective Production

Our dedication to transparency and effective quality standards has provided us with the opportunities to provide our clients with accelerated, sustained growth while reducing the cost of their products and minimizing risk. Scrupulous due diligence and constant quality control monitoring ensure your product will meet all requirements and exceed your expectations.

Essential Health Care Sourcing